25X1C4c Dear [redacted]

25X1C4c I should like at this time to express my appreciation for the exceedingly fine work which has been carried out by you and your people at [redacted] during the past few months. During this period of change, confusion and uncertainty - none of which was in any way attributable to the members of your organization - all of you have kept your eyes aimed forward and your shoulders to the wheel.

25X1C4c In every area of activity in which [redacted] has been involved, major strides forward have occurred. There has been a good display of imagination in thinking up new ideas which might be of value and at the same time pushing forward energetically and effectively those which appeared to have greatest promise.

It would not be possible, and indeed unfair, to try to single out individuals for outstanding accomplishment. I would appreciate, however, if you would pass on to one and all my real gratitude for their support during the past year. My very best wishes for a pleasant holiday season.

Sincerely,

25X1A9a [redacted]
